

The Lion and the Mouse

Once upon a time, in a thick jungle in Africa, there lived a strong and fierce lion. Every afternoon, the lion would rest under the cool shade of a big tree after walking through the forest.

One day, while he was sleeping, a playful little mouse passed by. The mouse saw the lion's thick mane and was curious. He climbed up and began to jump around on the lion's head, playing in his mane.

The lion woke up suddenly and was not happy at all. He quickly caught the mouse in his big paw and roared, "Who dares to wake me up?" He was very angry and almost killed the mouse.

Scared and shaking, the mouse begged the lion, "Please don't kill me! I didn't mean to bother you. If you let me go, I promise I'll help you one day."

The lion laughed loudly. "You? Help me? That's funny." But the lion was feeling kind, so he let the mouse go free.

A few days later, the lion was walking through the jungle again when he fell into a trap. A net set by hunters caught him, and he couldn't escape. He tried to bite and tear the ropes, but they were too strong. The lion roared loudly, hoping someone would come.

The mouse heard the roar and ran to help. He saw the lion trapped and quickly started to chew the ropes with his sharp teeth. After some time, the net broke, and the lion was free.

The lion looked at the mouse with surprise and said, "Thank you! You really saved my life."

The mouse smiled and said, "I told you I would help you one day."

From that moment on, the lion and the mouse became close friends. The lion learned that even small creatures can do great things, and we all need help sometimes.

The False Lion King

Once upon a time, in Africa, there lived two lion kings. One was named Hera and the other was Shero. Hera was very strong and handsome. All the animals loved and respected him. He was a great leader. Shero was not like Hera. He had a small mane and a funny, squeaky voice. Shero liked to pretend he was as powerful as Hera. He often copied Hera's roar, but it made the other animals laugh.

One day, the animals heard that some hyenas were causing trouble near the river. Hera quickly gathered his followers to stop the hyenas. Shero also wanted to come. He wanted to show everyone that he was strong too.

When they reached the river, Hera roared loudly. His roar was so powerful that the hyenas got scared. Shero also tried to roar, but his voice was high and silly. The hyenas laughed at him. Their leader, Hank the Hyena, made jokes about Shero.

Hera stayed calm and smiled. Shero did not give up. He said, "I am just as strong as Hera!" The hyenas laughed even louder. Shero tried to show his power by jumping on a small dirt hill. But he tripped and fell into the ground. The hyenas laughed so much they cried. Even Hera laughed a little.

At the end of the day, the hyenas left, still laughing about Shero. Hera told Shero, "You are not like me, but you make everyone happy with your jokes." Shero smiled and understood that he had his own special gift.

From that day, Shero became the kingdom's jester. He and Hera ruled together — one with strength, and one with laughter. The animals learned that both power and fun are important in life.

The Great Barrier Reef

The Great Barrier Reef is one of the most beautiful places in the world. It is located in the Pacific Ocean, near the northeast coast of Australia. The reef is very big. It stretches over 2,000 kilometers and can even be seen from space. There are many small coral islands and clear, warm waters around the reef. This reef is full of life. There are many kinds of colorful fish, sea turtles, dolphins, and even sharks. Coral of different shapes and colors grows under the water. Sea birds fly over the reef and nest on small islands. People can see this beauty by swimming, diving, or joining a boat tour. The colors under the water are amazing. Coral comes in red, yellow, green, and blue. Some coral looks like trees, and some looks like big round stones. Small fish swim in and out of the coral like they are playing a game. In some places, soft coral moves with the water like grass in the wind. When the sun shines, the reef looks bright and full of light. It feels like a different world under the sea. The reef is not only beautiful, but also very important. It helps protect the coast from big waves and storms. It is a home for sea animals and a place where plants can grow. Many people also get food and jobs from the sea near the reef. Without the reef, the ocean would not be the same.

Why Teenagers Should Learn to Manage Their Money

Many young people today often spend money on things they like, such as snacks, clothes, or fun activities. But learning to handle money from a young age is very important. Good money habits can help students make a better future. Having a clear plan for the future can show teenagers how to use their money. Students should think about short-term goals, like getting a new phone, and long-term goals, like saving for college or starting a business. Writing these goals down can help students stay motivated and focused.

A budget helps students see where their money goes every month. It's important to list basic needs like food and travel, and also other costs like clothes or presents. A budget makes it easier to decide how much money to save, spend, or keep for unexpected problems.

Sometimes, students don't know how much they spend on small things. Keeping track of spending with notes or apps can help students understand their habits. This helps them stay within their budget and make changes if needed.

Teenagers should also learn the difference between saving money and investing money. Saving is safer but slower, while investing has more risk but can earn more money. Knowing both can help students choose the best way for their money goals.

To sum up, students who learn to plan, budget, track, and understand saving choices are more ready for the future. That is why learning about money should start early and be done often.

Category	Percentage	Notes
Students who save regularly	45%	Save at least 10% of allowance
Students who track expenses	35%	Use apps or notes
Students with financial education	25%	Have learned budgeting in class
Students who often borrow from friends	30%	Due to running out of money
Students who spend most on food & drinks	50%	Largest category of spending
Students who plan monthly budgets	28%	Usually better savers
